Alchemist - Your Inner Idealist

You are that amazing person who has the ability to turn plain metal into gold! That's metaphorical of course, but it's actually not far from the truth if you consider, for example, that scrap metal can be given a new lease of life when made into a beautiful sculpture. Alchemy is the process of turning something ordinary into something extraordinary, often in a way that may feel magical or not easily explained. That pretty much sums up your abilities, doesn't it! You are someone with creativity and a powerful will, and you use these skills to bring about real transformation in the areas that really matter to you.

You are an idealist and have the ability to see how things 'could be'. You generate endless ideas, regularly spotting ways to get the best out of a situation and likely how to get the best out of people too. You are someone who is very driven by your values and are often drawn to social justice movements, you likely care more about helping others and bringing about change than you do about making money. You tend to align yourself with people, businesses and causes that match your values and you are great at empowering others to believe in themselves.

You experience a bit of a love /hate relationship with money in general because you can see its potential for good, but likely also feel that it is greedy or not spiritual to focus on it too much. You may feel that there is an unfair distribution of wealth in the world and that the rich have an unfair advantage. You might feel frustrated that you've never quite got enough money to support all of the causes that matter to you.

You like to stand out from the crowd and prefer to do things your own way! Due to that you might discount or rebel against creating any money habits and, when at your most extreme, might even find yourself rather unhappily depending on others for financial stability. You have the ability to find money in rather unconventional ways, potentially by believing in the law of attraction and being a bit of a 'manifestor'! Inwardly you may feel vulnerable or insecure about your ability to create income. Learning about your 2nd and 3rd archetypes could really help you discover how to make money from your amazing ideas, we might first just need to focus on helping you actually allow yourself to have it in the first place!

I would love to work with you to talk more about you and your Sacred Money Archetypes! Knowing your top 3 types can be a crucial step in moving towards the life of your dreams. A dream life happens when you live in harmony with your values and who you really are. Together we can figure out how to play to your strengths and navigate around your challenges, releasing old unhelpful beliefs and attitudes that may have been holding you back and setting you on your own personalised positive path to real and lasting success and happiness. Sound good? Come visit my website and find out how to book in with me!

With love,
